Mr. John N. McMahon
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Mr. McMahon:

We are pleased to welcome you to our first public exhibit of the new APL machine at the Federal Computer Conference. The characteristics that set it apart, ranging from real time imaging to advanced modeling capabilities, are summarized in the enclosed brochure.

As the area representatives for Analogic, we would like to invite you to bring your questions for answers and demonstrations at the Analogic booth, #3613, at the Washington Convention Center between 10:00 am and 4:00 pm on September 10th and 11th. Scheduled personal demonstrations are also available at the Vista International Hilton by calling us at 301-987-6822 (Baltimore and Annapolis areas) or 301-621-9494 (Washington area).

This revolutionary new machine can solve problems whose size and complexity overwhelm mini-computers and even bog down mainframes, at a cost of less than $100,000. We'll look forward to seeing you at the Conference, or if you prefer, contact us at our offices.

Sincerely,

Charles H. Wheatley, III
